YOUR PASSENGERS ARE DEMANDING NEW STANDARDS IN HYGIENE. NOW YOU CAN PROVE IT.

The Covid-19 crisis has sent waves through the private jet industry. Passengers now expect a new standard of cleanliness and hygiene at all touch points in their journey – it's simply not enough to disinfect an aircraft cabin between trips. FlySkills provides aircraft operators independently verified procedures, leading to a certification standard that lets operators demonstrate industry leading hygiene standards to their customers.

THE NEW CLEAN CERTIFICATION

FlySkills Hygiene Certification gives aircraft operators a means of proving to their passengers that not only is their individual flight sanitized, but also that independently verified procedures are in place to ensure that any chance of transmission of communicable disease have been minimised as far as possible.

STAY UP TO DATE

FlySkills Hygiene Certified operators receive access to the latest news, updates and best practices in order to maintain hygiene standards and reduce the risk of transmission of contagious diseases on board.

INTERNATIONALLY RECOGNISED

FlySkills Hygiene Certified procedures have been created in partnership with Socotec – the world leaders in testing, inspection and certification in environmental safety. Combined with the experience of our partner operators around the world, FlySkills Hygiene procedures set a new standard for cleanliness in private aviation.

BECOMING CERTIFIED IS EASY

The procedures provided by FlySkills Hygiene Certification are being made available to aircraft operators around the world in a ready to use format, in order to promote a new standard of hygiene and cleanliness.
